Applications of Fourier analysis in matrix theory

Rajendra Bhatia, Indian Statistical Institute, India

Fourier analysis has been applied in interestig matrix problems in several ways. Some of these are calculation of norms, solution of matrix equations, perturbation of eigenspaces, positive definiteness, matrix inequalities.

We will illustrate such applications by a few examples from this list.